

Directions

Driving From Seattle

Allow 4 to 5 hours

1) Travel North on Interstate 5 or I-5 from Seattle. It is about 176km or 100 miles to the U.S.-Canada Douglas Border Crossing also known as the Peach Arch. When nearing the border, tune-in to 1130AM All News Radio for border crossing reports. This station will provide updates/waiting times at the 2 boarder crossings The Peace Arch Crossing and The Truck Border Crossing. The Truck Crossing is generally quicker but not very scenic. The Peace Arch is longer, goes through Downtown Vancouver and is more scenic.

Quick Route – Truck Crossing – Avoids Vancouver

- 2) Take Exit 275, off of I-5, before getting to the main border (Peach Arch) crossing.
- 3) Follow the Pacific Highway (176th Street) past Surrey and over the Cloverdale Bypass to Hwy #1.
- 4) Take the exit for Highway #1 West, and follow it over the Port-Mann Bridge then over the Second Narrows Bridge, through North & West Vancouver and then to Horseshoe Bay.
- 5) When you near Horseshoe Bay, you will see exit signs for Whistler (Highway 99 North).
- 6) Take Highway 99 North to Whistler (approx. 1 ½ hours).
- 7) For directions from Vancouver Airport see below
